Want to join something GREAT and make a difference?

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has an exciting opportunity within our Washington Geological Survey Division as a Surface Mine Reclamation Specialist/Environmental Specialist 3.

Are you a geologist or natural science professional looking for an opportunity that will help contribute to protecting the environment and ensure a thriving mineral economy throughout Washington state? The Washington Geological Survey's Surface Mine Reclamation Regulatory Program administers the Surface Mining Act (RCW 78.44), and we're looking to hire a Surface Mine Reclamation Specialist (Inspector) for northwestern Washington. This position is critical to help ensure surface mines in Washington state will be reclaimed to a well-vegetated, stable, and naturally draining condition, to provide the greatest practical degree of environmental protection, and to prepare the sites for their future, post-mining use. The inspector is the subject matter expert for surface mine reclamation permits in the coverage area, providing technical assistance and support to permit holders to achieve compliance with their permit and all applicable laws and rules.

We are seeking a candidate with solid geological knowledge and skills, suitable for a role that requires self-direction, practical time-management skills, and excellent verbal and written communication skills. This is mainly a field-based position, with intermittent telework and office work required. Most of the permit site inspections will be relatively easy to access (although some may require long driving times or occasional overnight travel) and performed in conjunction with a permit holder and/or consultant, although the candidate must be willing to periodically work long days, alone, and in remote areas. The Program is set up to accommodate its Inspectors to live within the geographic areas for which they are responsible, to minimize the need for overnight travel. However, as noted above, some overnight travel will be required.

Duties

Responsibilities:

Surface Mine Reclamation Specialists (Inspectors) are responsible for inspecting surface mines for compliance with the Surface Mining Act (RCW 78.44) and its associated rule (WAC 332-18), as well as the approved reclamation permit and plan, and evaluating and adjusting performance securities to ensure Department liability is mitigated. Inspectors respond to requests for technical assistance with permit holders, miners, their consultants, and the general public to address various issues at mine sites and oversee compliance actions. They also collaborate with the Program's Regulatory Geologists, Assistant Director, and administrative support staff in preparing and delivering enforcement actions. This work is critical to program function and to achieving compliance, protecting the environment, and establishing final reclamation site conditions appropriate for a site's approved subsequent use.

Qualifications

Required Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree in geology, engineering geology, hydrogeology, or related field; OR an equivalent combination of education and/or experience. Experience to include mining- and reclamation-related field experience, including the identification of slope stability and erosion hazards and hazardous mineral potential.
- Proficient with Microsoft Office software to produce reports, letters, and other documents.
- Proficient with GPS, clinometer, Apple iOS, rangefinder, and other equipment needed for field inspections.
- Experience using ArcGIS.
- Knowledgeable in geologic principles and processes, especially in relation to mining activities.
- Commitment to fostering and supporting an environment that honors diversity, equity, inclusion, and environmental justice practices.

Special Requirements and Conditions of Employment:

- Field 75%, Office 25% - ability to work in uneven terrain, in all weather conditions. Mine inspections are conducted year-round at active surface mines. SMRP Surface Mine Reclamation Specialists are expected to walk the mine site to inspect for compliance with RCW and permit, and perform a preliminary evaluation of slope stability issues.
- Occasional (up to 4 times/month) overnight travel is expected within the area of coverage or to trainings/meetings in other regions within the state.
- A current, valid driver's license and two years of driving experience. Additionally, DNR requires state drivers to possess a license that is not suspended, revoked, or restricted (for example, Occupational/Restricted Driver Licenses or requiring ignition interlock devices). This position requires driving as an essential function. Finalists and/or interview candidates will be asked to provide a driving record from all states in which they have held a license during the past three years.
